For Surgical Clinique.—Dr. EDWARD H. DIX-ON. Editor of The Scalpet, has, at the request of a number of medical gentlemen, established a private Surgical Clinique, at No. 112 Grand-st., two doors west of Broadway. This charity is designed to protect the feelings of the virtuous poor from painful and unnecessary exposure before a medical class. Those medical gentlemen only who wish to avail themselves of the benefit of the institution for a patient, and in whose case they are personally interested, are invited to be present at the examinations and appractions. Females will attend from 10 to 12 on Wednesdays, ma'es from 10 to 12 on Saturdays. Privâte consultations duly from 10 to 3, and 7 to 9 evenings. From 5 to 10 every evening Dr. Dixon meets his Surgical class.

A PRACTICAL TREATISE on DISDIXOR. M. D. Editor of The Scalpti: T5 pages, eighth edition, price $1. The London, New-York and Boston medical journals remark: "Dr. Dixon has written much and well on various branches of surgery; he has identified his reputation with this department of professional learning." The more difficult and abstrues cases are treated of with extraordinary ability; indeed he has secured attention to every page in the volume, and prepared a practical digest of this branch of science, that places the profession under lasting obligations. The November number of The
